Beginning about the end of September 1894, the stamp tax on Cedula de Inscripcion (Certificates of Registration) of Chinese residents of the Philippines was increased to 20-pesos. Warren states that he examined fifty or more Cedula de Inscripcion issued between October 29, 1896 and December 31, 1897, which were preserved in the Archives Division of the National Library in Manila. To each of these Cedula de Inscripcion there was affixed the 20-pesos Derechos de Firma stamp (W-81). Warren further states that this stamp is rare and he had only seen three specimens in addition to those preserved in the Archives Division of the National Library in Manila.
